DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 is a process of production of alkenylaromatic compounds. However, there is no step recited in the claim the desired product is formed.

Claim 4 is recited a process has two to six steps. However, it is unclear what these steps are.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3, 5, and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hughes (3,847,968).

Hughes discloses a process of producing styrene by reacting ethylbenzene in the presence of steam, a fuel gas containing methane and a catalyst to produce styrene (the abstract).

Art Unit: 1764

On column 3, lines 9-11, Hughes discloses that the molar ratio of steam to the ethylbenzene is from at least 6 to 1.

On column 3, lines 18-20, Hughes discloses that the molar ratio of the fuel gas to ethylbenzene is from about 1 to about 4.

The temperature and the pressure of the dehydrogenation step can be found on column 3, lines 40-44.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 4, 7 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hughes (3,847,968).

Hughes discloses a process as discussed above.

Hughes appears not to disclose (1) how many steps the reaction is carried out, (2) using natural gas as the fuel gas, and (3) using radial flow reactors for the reaction (see entire patent).

However, as discussed in the above 112 rejection, these claimed steps are not clear. Therefore, steps in the Hughes process such as feeding the aromatic, steam, fuel gas, withdrawing the product are not different from the claimed process. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the Hughes process by using appropriate number steps to arrive at the applicants' claimed process provided that the desired product can be obtained.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the Hughes process by using natural gas as the fuel gas in the Hughes process since natural gas contains a large amount of methane.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the Hughes process by using any reactor for the Hughes process since it is expected that using any reactor for the Hughes process would produce similar results.
